Therapeutic Stone Massage

Due to overwhelming demand we have organized a two-day Hot Stone Massage Seminar. Hot stone massage has always been recognized for its ability to relax and delight patients. For the past decades Hot Stone Massage has been widely accepted by spa therapists, massage practitioners and health professionals.

In this Hot Stone Massage workshop you will learn the theory and practical skills needed to safely practice this healing art. We will also be discussing the role of energy charkas in the body, and how to promote energy flow with heat application.

*All equipment will be provided for the practical portion of the workshop.

The Case of the Irritable Bowel

Dr. Hoffman was treating a 40-year-old, hard-driving professional man, "very skeptical and rational", for irritable bowel syndrome. "It's a non-specific intestinal problem that can be really debilitating," he says. "The man felt completely out of control and powerless in dealing with it. He'd already seen a gastroenterologist for tests. We assessed his digestion, tried digestive aids, even manipulated his diet and found he wasn't allergic to anything. We treated him for Candida, which often causes bloating and gas, and that didn't work. We worked on his style of eating. We tried stress reduction and relaxation, and that didn't take.

"Almost in desperation I said, 'Go to a reflexologist, and who knows? Maybe that'll work.' And somehow it did!"

Dr Ronald Hoffman, M.D.
Medical Director of the Hoffman Centre
